TURNING THE DREAMS OF ARTISTS INTO REALITY

'PROMISED YOU A MIRACLE!'

27th September 2007

Volume 1, Issue 2

Fans worldwide will be pleased to hear that, in response to popular request for a studio album, the rock band "Sons of Dan" has today released their first taster track "Pleasantly Disturbed" for immediate download via www.mixrecords.com. For those that don't already know, "Sons..." is Mick MacNeil's (exSimple Minds/Pretenders) latest venture, working with former Minds members Derek Forbes and Brian McGee. This is the first of several tracks to be released. The tracks will all be loosely based on what many feel was the most productive time of Simple Minds writing, when "Sons and Fascination", produced by Steve Hillage, hit the CD shelves worldwide in the summer of 86. The original "Sons and Fascination" album was inspired by bands such as "La Düsseldorf", "Can", "Neu", and of course "Kraftwerk" among many other's. It was this unique blend of styles that resulted in the huge success of the album, a style trend which "Sons of Dan" hopes to continue.

Many have asked why the band is set on writing music of the past. The response has been that this is what fans worldwide want. However, we are told that new more contemporary material may follow. It is clear that this is a band with its heart set on delivering to peoples desires in contrast to the popular music vibe of today where little regard is given to the music itself and more to the way it is marketed on mass at every bus stop and street corner by the major music companies. The band encourages feedback so don't hesitate to give your views either via the Mix Records online forum or via email through the Mix Records website.
